

"GIRL IN PINK" PRIZE-WINNERS

Five Hundred Dollars Distributed Among the Romance Readers of The Evening World; Hundred and One Lucky Ones.

A BARROW STREET WOMAN WINS THE FIRST PRIZE.

The Most Successful of All the "Girl" Serials of New York Life Which The Evening World Has Printed.

The names of the 101 winners in the $500 "Girl in Pink" prize contest have at last been selected. Delay was unavoidable owing to the incredibly large number of answers received.

"The Girl in Pink" was the fifth of The Evening World's famous series of prize-contest stories, and the most successful that had any of its four predecessors.

Mrs. Kate Walsh, of No. 29 Barrow street, is the winner of the first prize, and the money will be used for the musical education of her tiny little daughter.

Mrs. Walsh sent in the correct names of the characters sketched in each chapter as they appeared from day to day. When an Evening World reporter called at the Walsh home, in Barrow street, to-day there was a happy scene in the neat little kitchen.

"Do you really mean I've won $500?" asked Mrs. Walsh, who is a comely woman, with three pretty children. "It's so good it doesn't seem possible. You don't know how much good that money will do. I've tried for a prize in every story The Evening World has published, and though I have had the right answers to them before, I guess I didn't get over the line in time."

"When people get sudden money like this they often go off their heads a bit and plan and plan and plan. I am a woman who needs every penny, and I know just what I am going to do. Ever since I read the 'Girl in Pink' I have been running I have had one idea. My little girl, May, has musical ability, and we could never afford to give her advantages. I told my husband that I was going to try for some of these prizes and if I got any of them I would spend the money on May's musical lessons."

"When the other prizes were announced and I didn't get any I felt pretty sorry, but I knew that some other deserving person had got it."

"Now that I've really got this $500 it doesn't seem as if it could be true. May shall at last have her musical lessons, and I can tell you I'll be glad to do it."

"I read in The Evening World about the other day winners and they were all girls, but I guess the paper won't mind because a mother with three children has the right to win. If I do win a lot of money, I'll do a lot of good," said little May.

When Mrs. Walsh was twelve chapters. Each was accompanied by a likeness of one of the characters. From descriptions and other hints in the text, the winners were required to determine which character each illustration represented. For example, in Chapter 1, a maid in starched cap, was introduced. When a picture of a maid answering to that description was produced, the reader was expected to write the name "Elsie, the Maid."

The correct list of characters represented by the pictures in the twelve chapters is:

Chapter 1.....Elsie, the Maid
Chapter 2.....Mrs. Fairleigh
Chapter 3.....Bella
Chapter 4.....Mrs. Slocum
Chapter 5.....Blanche Slocum
Chapter 6.....Mac, Campion
Chapter 7.....Dorothy Kerr
Chapter 8.....Henry Barrington
Chapter 9.....Mrs. Schura
Chapter 10.....Mrs. Schura
Chapter 11.....Mercedes
Chapter 12.....Mrs. Tarr

HORSE AND MOTOR.

Does it Mean the Passing of the Horse?

HORSE, since the beginning of civilization, has been one of man's most useful servants. To the farmer, his services are indispensable. In drawing his crops to barn and market, plowing his fields, supplying power to thresh the grain, and hitched to the old buggy, the patient animal has covered many long miles. But with the coming of the automobile, the bicycle, his services are becoming less essential, and some have even gone so far as to believe that in a few years a horse will be seldom seen on our streets.

A prominent automobile journal says: "Though the motor-driven vehicle steadily increases in numbers and availability, according to a Texas paper, 'it is not sending the old nag to the bone-yard.' It is further stated that the horse market does not show the slightest effects of the automobile, the demand being as great and the prices as high as before. The automobile came into use. These reports are taken from statistics obtained from 325 cities by the master horse-shoers. All this information is extremely gratifying, and it is a satisfaction to know that in its advancement the automobile is not doing injury to any conditions which existed previous to its entrance upon the stage."

There are many who love that noble animal—the horse—for his own sake, and in their hearts it is impossible that he should be supplanted by any mechanical contrivance. When a horse or any other animal is suffering from an indisposition or distemper, one of the first signs his master notes is that he refuses to eat—"is off his feed," as they say. He gives his stomach a rest for a few days till it recovers tone. Nature intended a man's appetite to be his servant, to notify him when his system was getting enough food, and when it needed more. But man, by his reckless living and indulgence, have reduced our systems to such a condition that the appetite is the master. Ravenous at one moment, capricious at the next, the poor dyspeptic knows not which way to turn. Were we to take lessons from the brute creation and allow our stomachs a rest occasionally, it would be much better for us. Sometimes we do not give our own body and its care the thought and attention we give our favorite horse. Very often a good horseman will give his favorite a bran-mash—to give it a change of diet and a laxative—when the scope of its 4008 large pages there are discussed the great mysteries of human origin and of human destiny, and a broad path is laid out for those who would have a strong and long life. vegetable elements should enter into it, without a trace of alcohol or narcotic. For this reason it is the ideal remedy for weak and worn-out stomachs.

Mother Nature knows her business and does good work. Dr. Pierce early believed in following the laws laid down by Nature (as do the animals), in choosing roots, herbs and barks for the ingredients for his stomach tonic and alterative extract, the "Golden Medical Discovery." It acts on the stomach in digestion, and by correcting the stomach, and thereby feeding the blood on pure materials, the red blood corpuscles are increased and the body established in a healthy state. No one suffers from catarrh who has plenty of red blood corpuscles and a good digestion. Catarrh in all its forms is a stagnation of the blood. Introduce pure, red blood into the system and health is assured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has borne the stamp of public approval for the past thirty of a century, and will do more to improve the health than any other remedy. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is the most powerful cure for catarrh, throat and bronchial troubles, which, if neglected, lead to consumption. In fact, it is a specific for heart, liver and all diseases which have for their source poor assimilation and impure blood.

No man is stronger than his stomach. Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. His strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased the body does not get its full nourishment, the blood has not the elements it requires; and, in consequence, all the organs of the body, such as the heart, lungs, liver and kidneys, as well as the nervous system, are deprived of pure, rich blood.

The dealer who tries to palm off a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery" does so in order to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious preparations. Insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"My sister, of Arlington, Washington, Neb., was taken very sick and had several doctors," writes Mrs. C. L. Harrison, of Elk City, Douglas Co., Neb. "They could not do her any good, and told my mother they would not come any more, as no doctor could help her—that she could not get well. She had 'wasting of the digestive organs.' My mother said to my sister, 'Well, I almost know that Dr. Pierce's medicines will cure her.' So she bought six bottles—three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' three of 'Favorite Prescription,' and some of the 'Pellets,' and now my sister is a well woman."
